

MENTAL HEALTH. BRIGHTER TOMORROWS.

Meaningful support. Right at school.

Counseling for students. A clear path for families.
Simple coordination for your school team.

Meet ITSCO

ITSCO is a Colorado mental health organization that brings individualized counseling into schools for children and adolescents, from kindergarten through high school. Founded by Rachel Finch and Michael Mendez, ITSCO grew from a shared commitment to making care easier to reach while supporting the clinicians who provide it.

We work with families and school teams to help students build coping skills, navigate challenges, and strengthen emotional well-being. School-based services connect with a broader practice offering office and virtual care for individuals and families, subject to provider availability.

Care where students are

School-based appointments reduce the need to arrange transportation to a separate office during the school day.

A partner for your team

ITSCO adds clinical support alongside your school's counseling, student services, and family engagement efforts.

Less administrative friction

One connected portal brings intake, referral status, provider schedules, and communication together.

Support shaped around each student

Students may need help with anxiety, stress, mood, grief, emotional regulation, peer relationships, family changes, or school adjustment. ITSCO reviews each referral to identify an appropriate provider and level of care.

A CONNECTED PROCESS

From a referral to the next step.

Your team helps make the connection. ITSCO's app brings the paperwork and follow-up into one workflow.

01 Share the link Give the family your school's digital intake link or QR code. Families can also find participating schools in ITSCO's school enrollment directory.	02 Complete intake The parent or guardian provides the requested student, contact, and insurance information and completes the required forms and signatures.	03 ITSCO reviews The submission enters the app's intake workflow and links to the student and school. ITSCO reviews paperwork, eligibility, service fit, and provider availability.	04 Coordinate care ITSCO follows up with the family and coordinates a provider and school-day plan. Authorized staff can check the recorded status and next steps.

Paperwork options that meet families where they are

The school portal offers English and Spanish printable packets, secure packet uploads, and staff-assisted digital intake. Staff can upload a completed paper packet and submit the referral through the same school workflow.

Your school portal, at a glance

Referral follow-up	Review the student roster, recorded referral and paperwork status, provider assignments, and waitlist information.
Provider coordination	Find your school's providers, profiles, assigned days, and availability. Coordinate the school-day schedule in one place.
Messages & support	Message providers and school staff in the portal, or send a support request to ITSCO for help with a referral or account.
Forms & resources	Share intake links and QR codes, find printable packets, and access documents permitted for your role and authorization.
School programming	View skills groups and school events when those services are available for your school.

Why it feels simpler

Families can enter information directly. Your staff can follow the referral in a shared system, with fewer handoffs and less searching through separate email threads.

What happens after submission?

Submitting an intake starts the review process. A confirmed start date depends on complete paperwork, appropriate consent, coverage or payment arrangements, and provider capacity.

Portal tools and visible information depend on your school's setup, staff permissions, and applicable information-sharing authorization.

DESIGNED FOR SENSITIVE INFORMATION

Connected care. Thoughtful privacy protections.

The portal is built to support school coordination while limiting access to sensitive student and family information.

- 1 Encrypted connections
The HTTPS portal uses TLS to encrypt information as it travels between the browser and the service.
- 2 Encryption for sensitive records
The platform implements AES-256-GCM encryption for intake responses and protected referral documents. Document encryption keys are protected through a managed key service.
- 3 Access tied to a person's role
Sign-in and server-side permission checks limit access by organization, staff role, student relationship, and applicable release of information.
- 4 Privacy in everyday use
The school portal supports student codes or initials. Session controls and access logging support protection and accountability.

What can school staff see?

Authorized school staff can use the information made available for referral follow-up and school coordination. A portal account does not automatically grant access to a student's full clinical record.

Coordination information

Depending on permissions, staff can see referral status, provider assignment, scheduling information, and messages relevant to their work with the student.

Protected documents

Document access is checked against the staff member's authorization and release-of-information status. Information available to each user may differ.

Consent and communication are part of the process

ITSCO obtains the required treatment consent and information-sharing permissions. A release of information (ROI) identifies permitted sharing; referring a student or creating a school account does not replace that authorization. ITSCO and the school review privacy responsibilities and communication expectations during partnership setup.

Simple habits that support privacy

- ✓ Use your individual account and the portal's designated forms, uploads, and messaging tools.
- ✓ Share only information needed for the referral or coordination task.
- ✓ Use general email for partnership questions; send student details through the approved workflow.

These safeguards describe platform capabilities. Their use depends on deployed configuration, permissions, and operating procedures. Encryption is one part of a broader privacy and security program.

A PRACTICAL PLAN FOR GETTING STARTED

Let's make support easier to reach.

Together, we define the services, school-day logistics, and referral process that fit your school community.

Questions schools ask

What services can we discuss?

Individual counseling is central to the school model. Skill Builders adds therapeutic activities that practice social, communication, coping, and emotional regulation skills. Group, family, and other support options depend on clinical need, eligibility, staffing, and the school arrangement.

Who provides the care?

ITSCO's team includes licensed clinicians, counselor candidates, and supervised trainees. Provider role, qualifications, supervision, and student needs guide assignments. The public directory introduces the team and provider specialties.

How are services paid for?

ITSCO works with Colorado Medicaid and commercial insurance plans. Coverage and family costs vary by plan, provider, and service; ITSCO reviews these with the family. School financial terms are agreed during partnership planning.

What if there is a waitlist?

ITSCO reviews capacity and communicates next steps. Ask about school availability and whether an office or virtual option is appropriate. Timing and alternate placements depend on provider openings and student needs.

Agree on the launch plan

01 Connect with ITSCO

Share your school, grade levels, student needs, and the best contact for partnership planning.

02 Define the partnership

Confirm service scope, staffing, financial terms, privacy requirements, and school or district approvals.

03 Prepare your school

Identify a school liaison, a private meeting space, and a plan for student transitions, schedules, and staff portal access.

04 Open the referral pathway

Review the portal workflow with your team, distribute your school's intake link, and begin coordinating referrals with ITSCO.

Clear responsibilities

ITSCO manages clinical review, care, documentation, and billing. Families complete intake and required consent. The school supports referrals, space, and school-day coordination as agreed.
